I'm not robot!

InDesign has been around for quite some time now (almost 20 years!), and it's still the leading tool in the desktop publishing field. Even though most companies embraced the web as the new go-to media, printed media is still very relevant and strong. (Fun note: Looking at Google Trends, "PDF" is getting even more popular lately, despite not being the most mobile-friendly file format around). To this day, knowing how to use InDesign is still a very valuable skill to have and given that it's a very complex software, knowing the ins and outs of it can dramatically improve your productivity. As I did in the past for scripts and plugins and utilities, I thought about creating a list that could help people with learning and mastering InDesign. I am sure there are even better tutorials and resources out there that I haven't found. If you know some, feel free to share them in the comments below or send us an email. If possible, state whether the material is directed towards a beginner, intermediate or an advanced audience. I also created a list of the best InDesign courses I took, so head there if you feel like a complete trainer is what you need. And lastly, before all the tutorials, make sure you have a look at this article with the 20 most common InDesign mistakes. Beginner, intermediate or advanced InDesign user? When I created this list I tried to focus on what you are probably looking for based on your InDesign skills. Therefore I divided the list of InDesign tutorials in three parts so that you can bookmark the page and come back anytime you feel like learning something new. Adobe InDesign tutorials by skill: Tutorials for beginner: Just starting out with InDesign? This section lists the basic operations such as creating the first document, picking the right font, inserting images, and so on. Tutorials for intermediate: These tutorials are a little more challenging. To appreciate them you should have already worked with InDesign—their goal is to help you become faster and work better. Tutorials for advanced: They cover advanced features or techniques that require a little more experience. I also thought about adding other resources that might teach you great stuff, give you some tips, or answer your doubts. Tutorials for beginners: Here are some of the first things you'll be looking into learning if you are just starting with InDesign. 1. What InDesign is used for - A Beginner's Guide Here you'll find everything you need to start your InDesign journey. Figure out if it's the right choice for you, how to get it, and how to start using it right! It's a must-read for anyone that's just starting out. 2. Create your first document First time using InDesign? Let's solve this right away. As a side note, a great way to start-up your projects quickly or get that creativity boost that you need could be using a template. In this blog, you'll find dedicated pages for InDesign Brochure Templates, InDesign Catalog Templates, InDesign Newsletter Templates, InDesign Cookbook Templates, and a more general page dedicated to InDesign Templates. If you too think templates can be a helpful tool, make sure to bookmark all those pages. 3. How to add page numbers in InDesign Having nightmares with page numbering? Don't worry! It happens to everybody—this tutorial is the best way to quickly learn how page numbers work in InDesign. 4. Pick the right Font New InDesign project? What Font should you use? How to use paragraph styles (new!) Looking for a way to apply formatting faster and more consistently? Paragraph Styles—that's what you need. Here you can find also a video tutorial. 6. How to add bullet points in InDesign Craving for some structure in your InDesign documents? Read this content and learn how to create bulleted lists for your documents. Let the superior appearance of your InDesign document speak for itself. 7. How to create numbered lists in InDesign Besides adding bullet points another great way to add structure and create a logical path for your readers in your InDesign documents is with the help of numbered lists. Read about how to use this feature best because it will be one of the most helpful things you could learn. 8. How to create beautiful Drop Caps in InDesign Adding an artistic flair to one or more paragraphs in your InDesign documents can be easily done with the Drop Cap feature. Learn how to do it and take your creative idea to the next level. 9. Using outline stroke in InDesign There is so much more to simply converting the text inside your InDesign document into an outline. Learn when to use or avoid it, and most importantly learn how to do it fast when needed. 10. How to turn off hyphenation in InDesign (or edit it) InDesign is a powerful tool that besides practical features is also packed with automations to help you create stunning documents. However, sometimes these automations such as hyphenation can do more damage and lead to mistakes. Here is how to better understand, control, and disable InDesign hyphenation. 11. How to fix Overset text Overset text in InDesign is one of the most common text-related issues but also one of the easiest to handle too. In this guide, you'll read all the basics and some advanced automation tips that will save you a lot of time. 12. How to create columns Does your document need columns? There are three main ways to create them. Learning all three will give you more control over your document and let you achieve the perfect layout. 13. Using spell check in InDesign The last thing you want in your document is a typo. That's why InDesign has an amazing spell check feature. Learn how you can keep the mistakes out of your work, through spell check, dynamic spelling, or autocorrect. 14. Import a Word file to InDesign Did you know that you can import a Word file into InDesign while mapping its text styles? Also, you can import the Word file as a link, so you can update it later and sync the content from the Word file to InDesign. 15. Insert an image in InDesign Learn the fastest ways to insert an image—or many images—into InDesign, and then explore how to deal with images with text inside and avoid mistakes. 16. Create a Clipping Mask in InDesign This simple tutorial will guide you into creating a clipping mask from text, a single shape or a group of shapes. 17. Create a Table in InDesign A three-part series on InDesign tables that will teach you how to create a table in InDesign, convert text to table, and how to import Excel files into InDesign. 18. How to use the new Variable Fonts in InDesign InDesign is all about providing you with the freedom to be creative while allowing you to automate processes so you can speed up your workflow, and this feature is all about that. Learn how to use this creative feature and express yourself through the typography in your documents. 19. Essentials Training Course—Udemy [Video Course] Would you prefer a video course? Maybe one that is well structured? Did you think about YouTube? Well, YouTube might be a good fit, but I'd suggest you have a look at Udemy. Udemy is an online learning platform aimed at professional adults, and there you can find lots of great courses (like the one linked here) that you can enroll into directly from your computer! 25. InDesign CC 2018 Essential Training by David Blatner [NEW] This new addition was suggested by our reader Patricia Green. These are the words she used to describe the course: "The reason I like his course is that he doesn't forget that we don't all have the same knowledge base, and furthermore, he remembers that the student might be flipping around to study the chapters that best apply to his/her current project. It's linear, but accessible if you want to learn modules. I haven't had the chance to personally check the course myself but I completely trust David and his ability to deliver great content. He has been quality-consistent for years, and for the reason I decided to add the course anyway after Patricia suggested it. Intermediate InDesign tutorials 26. Save Time with InDesign Master Pages Learn how to use InDesign master pages to keep a consistent layout and save time when importing text and creating your documents!
